"Moonlighting: Seasons 1 & 2" (Lions Gate, $50): The good news is that the seminal romantic comedy-detective series from the 1980s has finally arrived on DVD (the pilot was released a few years back on digital); even better news is that "Moonlighting" seems about as fresh and funny as it was when these episodes originally aired. The ABC series, created by Glenn Gordon Caron, pushed the envelope every week with its innovative stories, resurrected the career of Cybill Shepherd and made an overnight star out of Bruce Willis. The six-disc set includes bloopers, deleted scenes, a decent two-part documentary on the series, a look at the "Moonlighting Phenomenon" and commentary on several tracks including with Caron, director Robert Butler, Willis, Shepherd and costar Allyce Beasley.
